We were able to see several improvements to her symptoms while using the easymoov6 pump. Normally she will have a few vomiting episodes a week, when using the pump, we had none. We also noticed an improvement in her overall comfort and pain scores (measured by the paediatric pain profile). This could be due to the continuous feed rather than the stop and start. When using her usual pump to deliver medication she would flinch every time the pump would start to deliver some of the medication.

The pump worked really well, I just needed to get the thickness correct, then it worked brilliantly. I really liked the screen information. As I could see the amount of food given and the time remaining very clearly. I also checked the volume was correctly given and the machine was very accurate.

Also the time on machine was also very accurate. These little things on the machines display are very helpful.

Using the pump was simple and quick to set up, the screen had easy directions and problems could be solved very simply without calling the customer help number, very good pump for the more slower administration of Blend needed, easy to attach to a pushchair for walks out and about while running the pump I felt safe using this pump as the sensor seems very sensitive in detecting air bubbles which could cause problems in the stomach / bowel.

This pump really helped improve mealtimes for my son. It helped reduce the amount of sick related to blended diet and a big scale. It helped us to give feeds a little faster, as on week 2 I reduced the time a little but still gave the 90mls. and my son was not sick. My son liked the pump as he even realised there was less sickness and was a little upset when the machine went back.

I feel the pump had a great effect on him clinically, as he was very keen to use it as it was something new but also the delivery of blend was much slower than usual and I feel this was better on his stomach. In his words "I like this it feels good" that tells me it must feel different in his stomach and must be nicer as he won't be getting full too quick. I also found that he liked the idea of being hooked up to the pump as I didn't have to fuff with him too much and he could continue to do what he was doing. Whether that be TV or computers or an activity.
